KATHERINE BOBROFF

Scripps College
Class of 2009

“Using the knowledge and technical skills gained through the Scholars Program to help non-profit institutions is deeply fulfilling, and I am energized by my diverse and committed colleagues.”

Major(s): Economics & English

Internship: Cambridge Associates (Boston, MA)

Placement: Cambridge Associates (Boston, MA) and admitted to the 2+2 Program at Harvard University

Leadership Activities: Scripps Board of Trustees Representative, Resident Advisor, Scripps College Council Treasurer, Calculus Tutor

THE ADMISSION PROCESS

The admission process consists of three stages:

- First, the online application, which includes a cover letter, transcript, resume, and request for faculty recommendation, is reviewed for academic accomplishment and proven leadership potential
- Next, a leadership assessment, consisting of individual and small group challenges, is conducted and evaluated by industry professionals. All students completing this stage of the admission process receive valuable, individualized feedback
- Finally, panel interviews are conducted by alumni and faculty at the corporate offices of Trust Company of the West in downtown Los Angeles

All applicants are expected to be available for each progressive stage of the application process. Students studying off-campus participate in alternate, but comparable activities.

December 2, 3, or 4	Leadership Assessment (one full day)
January 20	Interview Panel

*Faculty recommendations due October 25, 2011

THE UNDERGRADUATE CURRICULUM

Building on the liberal arts tradition, the Robert Day Scholars curriculum provides students with a foundation in core areas of knowledge supportive of success in a wide variety of fields. The Robert Day Scholars curriculum requires completion of two courses in each of the following fields of study:

Accounting

Financial Economics

Leadership/Organizational Behavior

The courses may be completed at any of the five Claremont Colleges and students are not expected to have completed any specific number of courses prior to applying to the Program. However, all students must be able to complete the curricular requirements prior to graduation. Similar to academic sequences at CMC, all courses may be double-counted toward the student's academic major and/or sequence.

JONATHAN SIMKIN

Harvey Mudd College
Class of 2010

“An idea or product can mean a lot from an engineering perspective, but only through an understanding of business and finance can you understand it’s feasibility from a practical sense. For this reason, I am very pleased to have attended both HMC and the Robert Day Scholars Program.”

Major(s): Economics and Engineering
Internship: Fixed Income Securities (San Diego, CA)

Placement: Started his own business, SwoopThat!

Leadership Activities: Co-president and Captain of the 5C Roller Hockey Club, Senior Executive of KAIROS, Executive Member of the Mudder Investment Fund, Dorm Representative

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES

In addition to the curriculum, and in recognition of each Robert Day Scholar's commitment to personal and professional self-improvement, Scholars participate in a comprehensive leadership development program. These activities, including workshops, guest speakers and networking opportunities, are designed to enhance the students' skill set by developing effective leadership styles while emphasizing the importance of ethics in decision-making.

DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOPS AND PROGRAMS

Since hands-on experience is the best way to learn, workshops and programs emphasize:

- Business Communication Skills
- Business Ethics
- Corporate Social Responsibility
- Ethics in Leadership
- Experiential Leadership Training
- Oral Communication Skills
- Utilizing Persuasion in Leadership

NETWORKING

Building relationships with professionals in your field of interest can lead to numerous opportunities, so Robert Day Scholars participate in a variety of activities designed to connect students with these professionals. Past networking events have included:

- Alumni receptions around the world
- Networking trips to Hong Kong, New York, San Francisco, Singapore, and Washington, D.C.
- Annual Los Angeles event at the California Club
- Private meetings with distinguished speakers and guests

DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER SERIES

One of the best ways to learn about leadership is to engage in discussion with successful leaders. The Speakers Series brings prominent leaders in business, finance, and government to the school to share their perspectives. These speakers include Claremont McKenna College alumni, local leaders, and national figures. Following each lecture, Robert Day Scholars participate in a private Q&A session with the speaker.

CAREER MANAGEMENT

The Robert Day Scholars Program has its own dedicated career specialist who can help students formulate their career goals and assist them in developing an effective plan to achieve those goals. This ensures that all Robert Day Scholars receive the individualized attention they need to prepare for successful postgraduate lives.

INTERNSHIP PLACEMENT

Understanding the importance of allowing students to apply what they have learned in the classroom to real-world situations, all Robert Day Scholars are encouraged to seek challenging internships, especially the summer before their senior year. The career specialist works individually with each Robert Day Scholar early in the internship recruiting season, which has resulted in a 100% summer placement rate for every class of Robert Day Scholars.

FULLTIME PLACEMENT

Whether a student receives an employment offer from a summer internship or pursues fulltime employment during their senior year, the dedicated career specialist assists students with:

- Career planning
- Job search techniques
- Resume and cover letter writing, editing and tailoring
- Connecting with working professionals and alumni in relevant fields
- Interviewing (behavioral, technical, case, 2:1, super day, telephone, video conference, etc.)
- Negotiating details of job offers with Human Resource Departments

ABOUT ROBERT DAY

Robert Day is the Founder and Chairman of The TCW Group, Inc., a Los Angeles-based investment management firm with more than $150 billion in assets under management. He is also Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of the W.M. Keck Foundation, one of the nation's largest philanthropic organizations, with assets of more than $1.5 billion.

Day graduated from Claremont McKenna College in 1965 and started his career with the investment banking firm White, Weld and Company in New York. In 1971, he founded Trust Company of the West with just $2 million in client assets under management.

Among Day's many other affiliations, he is a member of the Board of Directors of Freeport-McMoRan Copper and Gold; a director of Société Générale; and a member of The Business Council, The Brookings Institution, and The Center for Strategic & International Studies. Day is also a Member and former Chairman of the Board of Trustees at Claremont McKenna College.

In September 2007, Day pledged a $200 million personal gift to Claremont McKenna to create the Robert Day Scholars Program. This was the largest recorded gift to a liberal arts institution, the largest gift in the field of finance and economics, and among the top 20 largest gifts ever given to a college or university.
